

Growth in number of homeless is our 'hidden problem'

More and more needing help says charity

By William Mata

MORE people are suffering the cold and indignity of homelessness, which has been dubbed Harlow's hidden problem.

Streets2Homes, a charity in Wych Elm, Harlow, is struggling to meet the demand of a 133 per cent rise in town homelessness over the past five years.

"It is getting worse but people do not see it," said Gary Cooper, who until recently was sleeping rough in wooded parts of Harlow.

Underlying

"It is a hidden and underlying problem. If you put one homeless person in a room with 20 people he would not be recognised but if you were to go to woods in Harlow you would find many."

The 49-year-old did not even have a tent when he became homeless in January and slept on the ground in his clothes for weeks through winter.

Mr Cooper was later able to share a tent with friends but said

WORD ON THE STREETS: Harlow Streets2Homes client Gary Cooper with volunteer Jeanette Godfrey and chief executive Kerrie Eastman

life would have been even harder without the social support, housing advice and training sessions offered by Streets2Homes.

The charity provided 3,527 meals to clients last year compared to 2,980 the year before. While the number of homeless has risen nationally, the five-year figure is 13 per cent higher in Harlow.

Mr Cooper explained he was formerly a full-time carer for his elderly mother but when she moved to a nursing home on the Isle of Wight her council house was taken and he had no option.

As a diabetic Mr Cooper struggled with the challenge of

COMMUTER FOCUS: Breaking down compensation stats

CONTRASTING FORTUNES: Greater Anglia saw a slight rise in claims, but far less than Govia Thameslink's increase

Rail delay payout numbers soaring

Train operator's bill doubles in space of year

By Sam Meadows

sam.meadows@hertsexnews.co.uk

MILLIONS of pounds were paid out to rail passengers experiencing delays last year.

Commuters are entitled to compensation if a journey is delayed by 30 minutes or more.

Figures released last week by the Department for Transport revealed Govia Thameslink, which operates Great Northern services, paid out close to £5million in 2015-16.

Greater Anglia, which runs services from London to Hertford, Harlow and Bishop's Stortford, paid out £2,366,000 for delays, a slight increase on the £2,306,000 it paid the previous year.

Jump

Govia Thameslink, which operates the line from Hitchin to London including Hertford North, paid out £2,233,000 last year.

This is a huge jump from the £584,000 paid the previous year, but the figures relate to its entire network, not just services in Hertfordshire, and a spokesman explained that the troubled Southern network became a part of the franchise in July 2015.

"When this is taken into account, GTR paid around 50 per cent more to passengers in compensation compared to the previous year," he added.

"This increase shows that more and more people are aware they can claim compensation and have done so.

"We have gone to great lengths to advertise our Delay Repay scheme and have made it even easier to claim."

A spokeswoman for Greater Anglia said: "The increase in the amount of compensation we have paid reflects both increased disruption in 2014-15.

"Predominantly due to severe weather, fatalities and problems suffered by Network Rail with infrastructure faults and over-running engineering work, and a deliberate effort to make it easier for passengers to claim.

"We have continued to promote ways in which passengers can claim Delay Repay compensation to make the process more transparent, and earlier this year we launched an online delay repay scheme for season ticket holders.

"We continue to work closely with Network Rail to improve performance and reliability.

"We are getting all-new trains from 2019, and before then we are spending £5million on improving reliability of our existing trains."

But James MacColl of the Campaign for Better Transport, claimed rail companies are still not doing enough to make passengers aware of their rights, saying: "Most passengers who are eligible for compensation aren't aware of it, so much better promotion is needed, like mandatory on-train announcements, adverts and the ability to claim online."

He added: "Poor performance on the railways is not just limited to delays and we welcome the fact that the new Consumer Rights Act will cover the quality of rail journeys as well."

Delay Repay 'is far too complicated'

RAIL passengers branded the system of claiming compensation for delays on trains too complicated.

Valerie Scott, 59, who commutes daily from her home in London to work in Hertford, said she has never claimed compensation despite experiencing delays.

"The train I travel on is often delayed by two or three minutes but sometimes more," she said.

"The trouble of making a claim is so absurdly great that I never have and never will."

She added: "I have trouble coming in the opposite direction, sometimes if the train is delayed it doesn't stop at my stop. So then one is late and deliberately made later by the train company."

Another traveller, who preferred not to be named, said the system of delay repay is not easy enough.

"I rarely do (make a claim), because the whole process seems to be so torturous that by the time you get to the point where you get compensation you would have to shoot yourself," she said.

"It's not easy enough to do."

Greater Anglia is launching an app in the new year to help make delay repay automatic for commuters, while the cut-off point for compensation will be extended to 15 minutes – it is currently half an hour.

Franchisees 'gain more than they're paying out'

NETWORK Rail paid train operators tens of million pounds more in compensation for delays than they in turn paid out to passengers last year.

In 2015-16, Govia Thameslink, which runs Great Northern, was paid more than £22million and paid out £2.3million to its passengers.

Greater Anglia, which runs services from London to Hertford, Bishop's Stortford and Harlow, received £4.2 million from Network Rail, while paying out £2.3 million to customers.

A spokeswoman for Network Rail said that while delay repay forms "an important part" of that payment, operators also faced numerous overheads – and paid Network Rail compensation when delays were their own fault.

A spokesman for the Rail Delivery Group said: "These payments are entirely separate from and different to train companies' payments to passengers, which are often made regardless of what caused the delay.

System

"As the independent rail regulator, which oversees the payments scheme between train companies and Network Rail has said, this system benefits taxpayers through lower franchise costs and passengers through downward pressure on fares.

"Overall, neither side should win or lose financially if respective targets are met."

He added: "Everyone in the railway wants trains to run on time, and when things go wrong we want to put them right."

"Train companies are raising passengers' awareness of their compensation rights, making it easier to claim money back and paying out more to delayed passengers."

A spokesman for Govia echoed the sentiments of the Rail Delivery Group, but added: "Also, the GTR franchise is different from others in that all revenue and compensation paid to GTR goes directly to the Department for Transport."

Rise in the homeless is 'hidden problem' keeping his insulin sheltered but is grateful for the charity's support in this regard and also for helping him find a place to live.

He now regularly visits the centre as he looks for opportunities to resume work as a fork-lift driver while he completes a science qualification.

"Through Streets2Homes I found accommodation two months ago," he continued. "I was homeless for seven or eight months.

"It made me feel as if there was nobody there to boost my confidence. I felt really depressed as there are not many places for a homeless person to go as Streets2Homes closes around 2pm.

He added: "My situation makes me feel so angry. There needs to be more accommodation, if we had something like the YMCA tower block (in Fourth Avenue, Harlow) that would be perfect."

Kerrie Eastman, chief executive of Harlow Streets2Homes, said there are many more people in Mr Cooper's situation than when the charity started in 2007.

She said: "This time of the year is the worst of homelessness.

"In Harlow we don't have people living in doorways, it is in tents and in woods. We cannot give out blankets as they will get wet.

"Individuals struggle with loneliness, isolation and they feel being homeless defines them.

"It is definitely getting worse. Welfare reform is a major contributor as people aged 35 and under are only eligible to a single room and in Harlow we have not got enough.

"It has also got more expensive. It can cost £80-£120 a week to rent a room in a shared house. There needs to be an incentive for landlords to charge a lower cost and there needs to be more accommodation."

Streets2Homes does not open over Christmas and refers clients to haven service The Chocolate Run, which has offered accommodation and food from December 23 to January 1 for 20 years.

Both charities rely on donations and volunteers to keep operating. For more information visit www.streets2homes.org/

LOOKING OUT: Cineworld is part of a £9million investment into the Harvey Centre in an area known as The Terrace

New six-screen cinema nearly ready to open

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A SNEAK peek inside Harlow's new Cineworld reveals the six screen cinema is nearly ready for a grand opening.

The long-awaited multiplex is coming soon to the Harvey Centre and the curtain will rise on Friday, December 9, in time for Christmas blockbuster Rogue One: A Star Wars Story.

Stuart Banham, Cineworld Harlow Harvey Centre general manager, led a media tour of the site where a 25-member construction team has just the finishing touches to apply.

The newly employed boss said the town's second multiplex will allow the biggest films to have more screenings and also for culture events, such as live broadcasts of theatre and ballet, to be shown.

He said: "We took over the site in August and it is amazing to see how it has come along and I cannot wait for it to open.

"It has been a really smooth process. Right now it is the finishing touches that are being added and we have recruited 31 local staff.

"People have said it is really good to have it in the centre and I think it is a great thing for the town."

Mr Banham confirmed the Cineworld in Edinburgh Way, Harlow, will be staying open, having undergone a full refurbishment four years ago.

This new development is part of a larger £9million plan to transform the Harvey Centre with restaurants and cafés expected to also move into the mall's first floor precinct named The Terrace.

Project

After the closure of Odeon in West Gate the town centre has been without a cinema for 11 years and a new Cineworld had been rumoured for years before construction firm Speller Metcalfe took the project on 18 months ago.

The largest of the six screens will contain 259 seats five other auditoriums ranging in capacity from 205-104 seats. Three of the six will have 3D facilities and Cineworld chiefs have taken care to make sure chairs have sufficient leg room.

Disabled film fans will be able to enjoy inclusive facilities with a viewing box installed to the back of auditoriums and several films a week will have subtitles.

Office Christmas Party, Moana and Sully are likely to be three of the releases on show during the opening week before the latest adventure from a galaxy far, far away opens the following week.

It has yet to be decided what the very first film screening at the venue will be. Watch this space.

UNVEILING CEREMONY: Robert Halfon celebrates Moot House changing ownership from ECC over to Mark Hall and Netteswell CA

Party celebrates the purchase of property

MARK Hall and Netteswell Community Association celebrated the purchase of Moot House from Essex County Council with an all-night party.

The club has made Moot House at The Stow, its home since 1952, but recently bought the Harlow property from the council to make it easier to obtain grants to preserve the building.

Distinguished guests included local councillors, arts and music groups and Harlow MP Robert Halfon as they enjoyed a late night disco, live music and a barbecue in the 19th century property, which dates back to 1840.

Mr Halfon reiterated the importance of preserving historical buildings like Moot House, which has recently catered for weddings since the closure of the registry office in The Water Gardens.

The association plans to make the grade two listed building easily available for the community for a wide range of activities to take place.

Head claims bullying online a big problem

Children no longer safe at home from victimisation

A HARLOW head teacher has spoken after research revealed that nearly three in five parents believe that cyberbullying is now harder to deal with than face-to-face bullying.

Passmores Academy head teacher, Vic Goddard, said: "Parents need to be more aware of how bullying has changed due to technology."

"I remember my mum saying to me, when I'd been the victim of some bullying, 'come home because you are always safe here'."

Study

"Sadly that is no longer true."

The study which was conducted by non-profit organisation, Internet Matters, as part of anti-bullying week, found that parents were most concerned about children aged 13 and under.

With smartphone use becoming increasingly common amongst the younger generation, cyberbullying ranks alongside online grooming and sexting in the hierarchy of risk for parents.

Statistics from the investigation found that 62 per cent of

ADVICE: Passmores' Vic Goddard said home is where danger lies parents were concerned about the prospect of cyberbullying overshadowing the anxiety caused by online grooming (56 per cent) and sexting (59 per cent).

Almost one in ten parents (nine per cent) said that their child had been involved in a cyberbullying incident. However, despite concerns, 32 per cent of parents admitted to not speaking to their child about it.

"Kids spend less than 20 per cent of their childhood in school, so home is where they need most protection," continued Mr Goddard. "We run evenings where we give advice to parents about how to do this, but often they're not very well attended."

"So it's frustrating when a parent of an 11-year-old tells us they have no idea what social media their child is using, or who they're interacting with in their bedroom on their smartphone."

"Schools and parents must work together."

Carolyn Bunting, general manager of Internet Matters, said: "Child safety online is one of the top concerns for parents, yet our research shows a third of parents admit they've never had a family discussion about cyberbullying. This is understandable."

"Children often don't want to talk about it and can end up suffering in silence."

"Educating ourselves and our families will help us all embrace the positive aspects of the internet while making children less vulnerable."

Theme

The theme of this year's anti-bullying campaign is power for good, which strives to empower children and young people, parents and teachers to take action and stop bullying in all its forms.

Organisers at the anti-bullying alliance will soon be announcing the winners of the first ever power for good award.

This is where children and young people have been nominating teachers and staff across England who have gone the extra mile to help provide pastoral care to students suffering with issues such as bullying.

Christmas switch-on proves a big success

Crowds turn out for evening plus children's choirs

CROWDS gathered for an evening of festive fun as the Christmas lights were switched on in Harlow's town centre on Friday.

In the market square, guests were treated to performances by the school choirs of Burnt Mill Academy and Little Parndon Primary School, who sang some of the most-loved Christmas carols and songs from today's charts.

Over in the Water Gardens, fans of the Disney musical, Frozen, had the chance to take part in a special singalong before Anna and Elsa invited children to join them on stage to be turned into a snowman, just like Olaf.

Singing

The cast of this year's Harlow Playhouse's Christmas pantomime, Beauty and the Beast, also helped to warmed up the crowds by getting them singing and dancing in the cold.

Clare the bear from St Clare Hospice joined representatives from the Hastingwood charity to tell people about their light up a life service which offers people the chance to join others in remembering relatives and friends who have died

Hip Hop Pop performed a series of exciting routines packed with tricks throughout the evening and dancers from Stewards Academy added to the entertainment ahead of the big light switch-on just before 6pm.

As chosen by St Clare Hospice, the Christmas lights this year were turned on by Luca and Romey, whose mother was looked after by the charity.

A spokesperson from St Clare wrote on Twitter: "Such a special moment when Luca and Romey, whose mum we cared for at St Clare, turned the Christmas lights on."

said: "We take great pride in providing an excellent Christmas atmosphere with our lights."

"They should be even brighter and extra special this year."

The lights in the Water Gardens include white swans and a reindeer, as well as a large Christmas tree and other festive lights across the town centre.

Councillor backing plans for centre

COUNCILLOR Tony Durcan has backed plans to revolutionise the town centre on behalf of Harlow Council's ruling Labour group.

Last week the Star reported that developer Addington Capital has started a consultation into plans to regenerate shop units adjoining Broad Walk, Market Square and West Gate.

If proposals go ahead the units, owned by the Harvey Centre, will be knocked down with shops rebuilt and more than 400 homes built above.

Mr Durcan, the local authority's portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise, has encouraged residents to look at the plans and participate in the planning process.

He said: "The Labour controlled council welcomes the initial consultation on the new plans to regenerate part of the town centre."

"This demonstrates Harlow is viewed as a good place to invest in not only to provide new housing but also new growth for local business and retail outlets."

"While this may be early days, it could be the start of a new chapter that enables us to make significant improvement into the heart of our town."

"We would encourage residents to not only take a look at the new plans but make your view known. Whilst under pressure to make cuts by central government were determined to bring new life into our town centre."

The Harvey Centre's latest addition, a Starbucks coffee shop, was visited by Edna Stevens, chairman of Harlow Council at the weekend.

She said: "We look forward to welcoming more well known and popular retailers to the town centre over the coming years, ensuring that Harlow residents have an ever improving shopping experience."

Starbucks back in town centre

Franchise opens in former M&S store

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CAFFEINE addicts won't have a problem finding a coffee in Harlow as Starbucks becomes the latest franchise to move in.

The American chain has pitched up on the corner adjoining Broad Walk and Harvey Centre Approach, on the site of former cornerstone shop Marks & Spencer.

After holding a launch party on Wednesday, November 16, franchise holders Kulwant Hara and Bhopinder Singh Gill are happy with the support their sixth store has received.

Location

Mr Hara said: "There was a Starbucks four or five years ago in Sainsbury's in Harlow and this is a great location for us, it is a busy town centre.

"We thought we would give it a go. We have done a lot of market research. I know people will travel to Epping to go to the Starbucks there.

"The brand itself is well known, people can remember from when it was in Sainsbury's, and this seemed like a good opportunity.

"The response has been very good."

The shop, which will be visited by Harlow Council chairman Edna Stevens, has created jobs for 12 people, with the opportunity for managers to hire at least three more.

Starbucks becomes the latest big name to move into the Marks & Spencer unit as part of the Harvey Centre's redevelopment. Peacocks and Gym's Kitchen have also both opened recently.

Customers can currently enjoy winter warmers from the Christmas range, which includes an indulgent fudge hot chocolate.

With Costa placed opposite and Esquires around the corner, Starbucks has some coffee shop company while many independent outlets also trade in the town.

Mr Hara and Mr Singh Gill manage Starbucks outlets in Epping and Hornchurch as well as several in Kent, all under the banner of GK Coffee Group.

Karen Fenwick, director of franchising and licensing for Starbucks UK, said, "The Harvey Centre is a fantastic setting for this new store.

"We're delighted to be expanding our partnership with GK Coffee Group, who share our passion for bringing great coffee and first-class service to customers."

RUN ON: Lucy Harborne from Epping with baby George, whose life was saved by Great Ormond Street Hospital

Family run to thank 'amazing' hospital

AN Epping family will take part in the London Santa Dash to raise money for Great Ormond Street Hospital, which saved their young son's life.

Rather than dashing through the snow, the Harborne family will join thousands of others running through Clapham Common on Sunday, December 4.

Lucy Harborne will enter the event with husband Sam and other family members in honour of her baby George, who needed lifesaving open-heart surgery when he was just 14 weeks old.

The toddler was diagnosed with a congenital heart defect called Tetralogy of Fallot, which affects the circulation of blood through the body and can be fatal.

Gratitude

Surgery at Great Ormond Street Hospital was a success, but he will need a pulmonary valve replacement in the future.

Mrs Harborne said: "The amazing support from Great Ormond Street Hospital made a horrible time bearable and we can never express the gratitude that we feel for each and every member of staff that helped.

"It is an amazing place filled with amazing people; they saved our baby boy and for that we can never thank them enough."

CHILDREN IN NEED: A whole host of fundraising events held across the town

STYLISH: The Gregory Fitness team show their support

THUMBS UP: Pupils of Cooks Spinney Primary School

SPOT ON: Little Parndon Primary School wear their spots

Spotacular efforts 'all about Pudsey!'

PEOPLE of all ages across Harlow have been raising money for this year's Children in Need appeal.

Various primary schools across the town took part in the Big Spotacular, where pupils were invited to do something "spotty" in exchange for a donation to the BBC fundraiser.

Primary schools taking part from the seven that form the Burnt Mill Academy Trust included Cooks Spinney Primary School, Little Parndon Primary School and Roydon Primary School, who all attended their classes wearing spotty clothing, headwear and face paints.

As well as their spotty clothing, staff and pupils at The Downs Primary School had the chance to go to school wearing their pyjamas in aid of the charity.

Alongside their dress down day, the pupils of The Henry Moore Primary school ran a tuck shop with a selection of homemade cakes on sale.

Also choosing to sell some sweet treats for charity was Fawbert and Barnard Primary School who held an after-school cake sale.

Katherine's Primary School tweaked their lunchtime menu to fit the Pudsey theme, including a spotty raisin cookie on offer for dessert alongside all pupils receiving their special Pudsey stickers.

A spokesman said on behalf of the school that "It's all about Pudsey!"

However, it was not just schools taking part in the fundraising events with Harlow Zumba and fitness team Gregory Fit raising £1,636.

Big studio

Rochele Gregory of the Gregory Fit team said: "We often run charity events throughout the year in the big studio where we teach our daily fitness classes at the Latton Bush Centre in Harlow."

"This particular time we chose to raise money for the wonderful charity, Children In Need."

As part of their fundraising events, Gregory Fit held a Zumbathon over the weekend prior to Children in Need when everyone was invited to join in a morning of packed dance routines.

Alongside the morning of activities, people had the chance to take part in a raffle with the chance of winning a variety of prizes, including a mobile phone, spa and hair vouchers and free fitness classes.

More than £1,000 was raised on the team's Just Giving page too.

"Although we worked extremely hard to make this event happen we couldn't have done it without the support and encouragement from the Gregory Fit team and its very loyal, friendly and motivated fitness family who encourage us every day of the year, but also with the amazing help from the lovely companies Benbrook Windows and Belvoir letting agency in Old Harlow," continued Ms Gregory.

"We are extremely grateful for those that attended the event as well as those who donated too, we honestly couldn't have done it without all your help."

"It was an honour to have achieved such a successful event."

Over in the town centre, the Lloyds bank staff have been helping Children in Need throughout the year.

Jonathan Bates, manager of the East Gate branch in Harlow, said: "The bank as a whole has been helping Children in Need across the year."

"We've been helping to raise funds by selling Children in Need merchandise like the headbands and hair clips."

"We also did a cake bake sale for our customers in store."

Greggs

Celebrating their tenth year in partnership with Children in Need, bakery Greggs has continued to support the charity this year.

A spokesman from Greggs in the Water Gardens, Harlow, said: "We've been selling Children in Need bakes like cakes and biscuits."

"It's been really successful and we could definitely sell more if we had them."

Children in Need has been working to raise funds for disadvantaged children in the UK since 1980.

Plan to build flats is flawed

After reading last week's front page story I felt compelled to reply. I have lived in Harlow since the early 1980s and I've seen many changes.

The proposed plans by Harvey Centre owners Addington Capital to build 400+ residential dwellings above retail units are seriously flawed. Have we learned nothing from Harlow's past mistakes? Remember the Old Staple Tye or Potter Street shops. Ask anyone who currently lives above the shops at Bush Fair, The Stow or Adams House if it's a nice place to live, relax or raise a family.

These types of living spaces are typically small, have no garden or outside space for children to play. Many have no garages or parking spaces. And the biggest issue for residents in these types of properties is noise. Would you want to listen to the noise from the shops, pubs and restaurant below? and the noise after dark from nightclubs and pubs and groups of youths hanging around.

I understand Harlow desperately needs more homes, especially social housing. But building 400+ homes above shops in an already rundown town centre and repeating the mistakes of the past isn't the answer. I for one wouldn't choose to live on one, would you?

Aron Stevens
Wharley Hook

Am I missing something?

Where is it, did I miss something? All the hype over building a new cinema and shopping centre, I thought the Harvey Centre would be extended and the shops outside would come inside.

The shops that are coming into the Harvey Centre are nothing to be proud of, it's supposed to be an indoor shopping centre, so how does a cheap gym fit in with shopping, we want decent shops not

THIS picture is of the Armistice Day special steam train, with poppies on the front, which travelled from London to Norwich on November 11.

Harlow resident and Star reader Mike McKay took this picture at about 11.30am as it passed behind the Harlow Rugby Club. If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution, landscape copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to kerigh.palmer@hertssexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address.

another coffee shop, jewellers or a Peacocks that has closed down once already outside, the town is becoming a joke.

No thought for the shopper has gone into the planning of the Harvey Centre, the six-screen cinema will attract hundreds of people day and night, so for the normal shopper these crowds of people will become an annoying hindrance, and there's only so long I will drive around Tesco's car park looking for a parking space, I would rather shop elsewhere.

There is nothing wrong with having a new cinema, but it's in the wrong place, it should be away from the shopping centre and I feel that a lot more shops will close next year because shoppers will go elsewhere.

I think the future for Harvey Centre will be to turn it into an entertainment centre, just add a pub, some arcades and a children's play area, and the cheap gym and numerous coffee shops will fit in perfectly.

■ TOWN CENTRE

Not everyone shares opinion

In response to Turners letter (Star, November 17) fortunately the majority of Harlow does not share your pretentious opinions about the shops and restaurants being built, companies and cinema being built, and hospital (consistently good across the board had you bothered to read the CQC)...

We lost BHS and M&S because the companies went under nothing to do with the town centre... Please do Harlow a favour and move town.

■ MISSING GIRL

Thanks for the kind strangers

My little girl went missing whilst out shopping and I want to thank everyone that helped!

I would like to thank everyone that helped me when my little girl went missing in Matalan on Friday 18th November. I didn't get to thank everyone.

Total strangers looked all over the shop for her, Matalan staff were quick to close the doors and help look. Thankfully she was found playing hide and seek.

■ DOG ATTACK

My heart goes out to victim

My heart goes out to Mr Baskett losing his small dog after an attack by an alsatian. I too have a Chihuahua and frequently come across people walking their large dogs off lead and even after seeing my dog on her lead, think it's ok for theirs to come bounding over, whilst shouting "it's ok, he won't her her".

Sorry, your dog can bite, jump on and bowl my dog over causing injury. A little respect for other dog walkers is called for, if you see a small dog, put yours on a lead until we have passed, that way we are all in control of our animals and can avoid injury and heartache.

■ LABOUR PARTY

Anyone who doubts the unity of the Labour Party would have done well to observe the Party's local meeting last night.

After a spirited debate, a unanimous motion was passed in support of the Jeremy Corbyn. Now let's get on with winning the next election.

■ PARKING

Mystery of the traffic wardens

There is a big mystery of where the traffic wardens are for Turners by the town centre.

Harlow Council don't want to know as it's nothing to do with them. Colchester parking don't want to know as it is nothing to do with them. East Thames parking don't want to know as it is nothing to do with them.

Well someone must be responsible. Some people are made to have permits, some can't park in the car park at the back that is for the residents of the flats only as people from the houses are illegally parking.

Someone must be held accountable for this. The whole estate should be permitted and the residents of the flats are getting no help in sorting out the car park and now it's getting nearer to Christmas the parking in Turners is getting worse.

Carer Maureen urges others to see what help is available

Events aim to raise awareness of those who support family members

By William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GREAT-GRANDMOTHER who supports three family members has urged carers to take the help available to them.

Maureen Geraghty, 73, of The Downs, Harlow, has been a carer to her husband Rick for 23 years, since he suffered a stroke at the age of 50. His condition has worsened and he struggles with his memory, communication and awareness of what is around him.

Responsibility

But as Mrs Geraghty has herself got older, her caring responsibility has only increased.

Her 96-year-old mother Gladys Perry now needs more assistance with shopping, and her 50-year-old daughter Julie Alison requires support as she undergoes dialysis.

Ahead of Carers Rights Day on Friday, support groups in Essex and Hertfordshire are promoting their services with the message that carers do not need to suffer in silence.

Mrs Geraghty, who has four grandchildren and one great-grandchild, is grateful for the invaluable support of charity West Essex Action for Family

Carers, a service based in Wych Elm, Harlow.

She said: "I just have to get on with it. There is nothing else I can do, it is just a case of sheer determination. As I become older it does become more of a strain, some tasks are becoming more difficult for me. It has been a full time responsibility for me ever since my husband had a stroke and he had to stop working. I had to stop a job I had just started and really enjoyed, which was cooking in a children's nursery."

After she lost her second daughter last year, Mrs Geraghty said there is no one else who can provide the support.

"I would be lost without Action for Family Carers," she added.

"They started a day centre my husband goes to once a week, and that gives me some respite."

"I also attend a carers group. It is hard to find time for myself, but I enjoy catching up with friends."

Fiona Langridge, manager of West Essex Action for Family Carers, said "We want to raise awareness. A lot of people do not realise they are carers, they are unpaid family carers."

"People do it because they have to do it. Carers can be taken for granted and they might have some health issues of their own."

"They often have emotional overload, stress and back injuries from carrying heavy loads."

"We can offer respite, emotional and practical support and provide access to a support group."

Action for Family Carers also provides specialist support for young and teenage carers, and is established in five other Essex towns.

Across the border, Carers in Hertfordshire is holding an awareness stall on Saturday in Asda in Watton Road, Ware, from 10am to 4pm.

Michele Stokes, chief executive of the charity, said: "As a charity we provide advice, information and services to unpaid carers to improve their health and well-being."

"Part of this is making carers aware of their rights to financial and practical support and where to find it."

IN BRIEF

Specialist leg ulcer clinics

WEST ESSEX: NHS West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group has announced new specialist clinics dealing with patients suffering from leg ulcers.

The centres provide better dedicated care for leg ulcers than going to GP surgeries would, with close supervision and counselling on offer.

Specialist nurses will be in attendance at: Rectory Lane Health Centre, Loughton (Mondays 9am to 5pm); Waltham Abbey Health Centre (Tuesdays 9am to 5pm); Dunmow Clinic (Tuesdays 1pm to 4pm); St Margaret's Hospital Epping (Thursdays 9am to 5pm); and Saffron Walden Community Hospital (Fridays 1pm to 4pm).

The existing leg ulcer clinic at Nuffield House, Harlow, which operates Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9am to 4pm, remains unchanged.

Teen rebailed

HARLOW: A 15-year-old boy, who was arrested in connection with the death of Arkadiusz Jozwik, has been rebailed.

Essex Police provided a file to the Crown Prosecution Service on October 25 for a decision on this case.

The boy, who is from Harlow, was due to return on bail on November 21, and the CPS has asked Essex Police to extend his bail until December 1, pending a decision on the case.

Polish national Mr Jozwik died on August 29 at the age of 40, two days after an incident at The Stow, Harlow.

BIRD IS THE WORD: The study was completed by The University of Veterinary Medicine in Vienna

These feathered friends really aren't bird brains

BIRD-BRAINED cockatoos may be much smarter than we give them credit for, studies made by researchers in Oxford and Austria suggest.

The University of Oxford and The University of Veterinary Medicine in Vienna worked together to test the birds' problem-solving skills to see if they could get food from a see-through box.

The cockatoos couldn't reach the food themselves so they had to make a tool from various different materials.

A small piece of wood, cardboard, a leafy twig and some beeswax was all the birds could use to push through a hole in the box in order to reach the food.

Research showed the cockatoos were able to make tools from all the materials apart from the beeswax, which was impressive considering they don't usually make tools in the wild.

They made the tools through their own inventiveness and imagination and were suitably rewarded with a tasty treat.

Police seek men who stole safe

TWO men stole a safe containing money and jewellery from a house in Harlow on Saturday, November 5.

The intruders forced open the rear door of a property in Hart Road and caused damage to brickwork as they pulled the lockup from a wall.

The safe contained a gold identity bracelet engraved with the message 'Love on Our Engagement', a solitaire diamond ring and another ring made with ruby and gold. A silver-faced watch with a black leather strap was also stolen from a table. The incident is believed to have been committed between 6.40pm and 7.20pm.

The suspects are thought to have been in the area from about 6pm and were seen to leave in a blue Jaguar X Type.

PC Natalie Backhouse said: "I am appealing for anyone who saw these men, or has dashboard camera footage of the Jaguar, to please get in touch. I am also keen to hear from anyone who has been offered the items of jewellery for sale or knows of their whereabouts."

One man was white, aged about 25 and 5ft 9in tall with fair hair. He had light blue jeans and a pale long sleeved hooded top with the hood up. The second was white, aged about 30 and 6ft tall, with dark, slicked back long hair. He wore a dark jacket.

Call PC Backhouse at Harlow Police Station on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Group aiming to remove stigma of lung conditions

Team hosts coffee morning to raise awareness of causes of disease

By William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

A SUPPORT group is spreading the message that lung conditions should not be stigmatised as being a consequence of smoking.

Harlow and Epping Forest Breathe Easy group held a coffee morning at their base in Purford Green Community Centre, Harlow, on World COPD Day to raise awareness.

COPD, which stands for chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, is an umbrella term for conditions that can cause lungs to narrow and make it difficult to breathe.

Breathe Easy, a support and social group organised by the British Lung Foundation, is usually held on the second Tuesday of every month from 2pm to 4pm.

Pauline Love, chairman of Harlow and Epping Forest Breathe Easy, feels the group is especially important in a town with a higher than average number of COPD sufferers.

She said: "People think that you get a lung problem because you smoke, but there are a number of reasons why."

"A lot of homes in Harlow have asbestos in them, and in central Essex the air is not as nice. I feel that if I go to the beach at Southend I can breathe more easily."

Ms Love has been chairman for seven years and took over after she developed a lung condition herself. The free group is a social opportunity but also a place for anyone to seek advice or support as a nurse also attends.

In Harlow residents are 30 per cent more likely to be admitted to hospital compared to the UK average with COPD and 40 per cent more likely to die.

Figures show that compared to the national average town residents are also more likely to be registered with lung cancer and mesothelioma.

Statistics

Harlow has also recorded poorer statistics relating to asthma and pneumonia.

Health expert Ben Chiu, who works for the British Lung Foundation, considers the statistics a result of social deprivation.

He said: "Lung problems can result from social deprivation as people in poorer areas are more likely to live in places that have asbestos and they are also more likely to smoke."

"Mesothelioma is particularly associated with asbestos and tends to effect people in later life,

EASY DOES IT: Epping Forest Breathe Easy group volunteers Doreen Manning, Pat Wakefield, Mavis Capon, Angela Mead, Cathie Andrews and Pauline Love celebrate World COPD Day

even if the disease is established at an earlier age."

Robert Halfon, MP for Harlow, visited the coffee morning and met group regulars.

He said: "It was wonderful to visit Breathe Easy to meet with volunteers and members organised by Pauline Love and her team."

"I thank Pauline, Breathe Easy and our local NHS and British Lung Foundation for all the incredible work they do in Harlow to help with these problems.

"I am going to back them in their campaign for more support from the Government."

Hospice nurse feels privileged to care for others at 'festive period'

'I am delighted to be working Christmas day'

WHILE most will spend Christmas day with their families, the dedicated team of nursing staff at St Clare Hospice will continue to provide care for patients.

The Hastingwood-based charity will still run their inpatient unit and community service to ensure that the people of West Essex and East Herts have access to care over the festive season.

One nurse set to work Christmas day this year is inpatient unit staff member, Penny White.

"I am actually delighted to be working on Christmas Day," she said. "Of course, I will miss my family, but of all the days of the year to be working at St Clare, it really is the most special."

"It is a privilege to be caring for patients on such an important day for them and their family."

"There is such a wonderful atmosphere as we play festive music and share presents - just like they would at home."

She continued: "On Christmas Day itself we set up a big dining table in the family room and all the families who are visiting gather for a turkey roast dinner."

"We will have the TV on and settle down to watch the Queen's speech - along with a glass of mulled wine and a mince pie of course!"

Dinner

"I will have my Christmas dinner with my partner on Christmas Eve instead this year, so there will still be time for me to celebrate with my family."

Another member of staff set to work on Christmas Eve is nursing assistant, Zoe Almond.

"It is my lucky job to put out the mince pies for Father Christmas and carrots for the reindeer," she said.

"I might even get to see Father Christmas at midnight if I keep a look out!"

"I love Christmas - and Christmas at St Clare is just so special."

"Last year I dressed up as a Christmas pudding and went round ringing sleigh bells. It is lovely to see the smiles on people's faces - it is just a pleasure to be able to make Christmas at St Clare a magical for all our families."

St Clare Hospice is currently preparing for the Santa Dash, which will take place in the Water Gardens on Sunday, December 4.

The fundraising event strives to raise the essential funds needed for care on Christmas day.

More in work

HARLOW: Robert Halfon, MP for Harlow, is celebrating another fall in the number of residents claiming Job Seekers Allowance.

Those requesting out of work benefits fell by 1,304 people, representing a 56 per cent drop since 2010.

More than 297,000 have found themselves back in work across the East of England and employment across the UK has hit a record high.

Mr Halfon said: "I'm pleased that jobs are continuing to come back to Harlow."

Free licence

HARLOW: TV Licensing and Age UK have launched a joint campaign aimed at reminding those aged 75 and older that they can claim for a free TV licence.

Town getting into gear for festive season

Plenty of Christmas events coming up

By Ross Perkins
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WITH just more than a month to go until the big day, 'tis the season for Christmas fairs in Harlow.

Snow may be unlikely to fall but shops, groups and charities are gearing up for their own winter wonderlands, offering residents the chance to get festive and bag a bargain.

Harlow Lions Club will hold their fifth Victorian Christmas Fair on Sunday at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre from 11am to 3pm.

As well as stalls selling gifts and an appearance from Father Christmas, four members of Ottersberg Lions Club will travel from Germany to visit their twin club.

Raffle

All proceeds from the day, which also includes a raffle with a £100 prize, will be donated to help a local girl suffering with spinal muscular atrophy.

The Water Gardens will transform into a modern market from December 6 to 11 with jewellery and garden furniture being sold.

Staff and students from Passmores Academy will sell clothing, handbags, jewellery, games and toys from 6pm to 9pm on December 9.

The Stow community will stage a Christmas market in the hatch from 5pm to 8pm on the same day with a lights switch-on, fire-breather show and a pampering session offer at Tiaras salon.

This will be followed the next day by an appearance by Santa and Mrs Claus at The Stow from 10am to 4pm, along with their reindeer.

Also going on that same day, the Leah Manning Centre in Park Lane will be hosting their Christmas market from 1pm to 4pm.

BROADBAND SPEEDS: A fast service will help benefit economic development

Council to invest £10m to get rural areas connected

It could all be about to get quicker

The internet is becoming increasingly important to work and home life. However, rural communities are frequently being left behind when it comes to internet speed. Chief reporter Sam Meadows investigates how it can have big affects on daily life...

THOUSANDS of rural homes in Uttlesford are set to be boosted by the introduction of high-speed broadband coverage.

Superfast Essex Phase Three, a county council initiative, will invest up to £10million to make sure rural areas in Essex have access to superfast broadband.

This step of the phase provides internet for an estimated 24,000 homes, including 5,500 in Uttlesford which the council says has "significantly poor connectivity".

Councillor Kevin Bentley, county hall's lead on economic growth, said: "This is great news for Essex."

"We have always been committed to extending superfast broadband as much as we can, and this proves we are true to our word."

"I'm excited to see what suppliers and technologies come forward in the bidding process."

Councillor Howard Ryles, Uttlesford District Council's portfolio lead for economic development, said: "As a rural district, we are acutely aware of the impact of not having access to superfast broadband for our residents and businesses, and we remain determined to deliver an improved service for as many people in the district as possible."

Pleased

"The council has worked very hard to get the best possible deal for Uttlesford from the Superfast Essex programme, and we are therefore pleased to be a part of the Phase 3 project."

Phase Three will consider all technologies capable of providing superfast speeds, not just fibre.

For more information on the initiative visit www.superfastessex.org/whats happening next

ONLINE: Essex County Council says it's committed to getting a faster service to the whole of the county

Slow internet speeds are a big issue for many

INTERNET users in rural areas are hamstrung by slow speeds, our investigation can reveal.

A survey of 100 readers found that 63 per cent of people across Hertfordshire and Essex feel their internet is not quick enough for their needs.

Among those living in rural areas that number soars to 85 per cent – compared to just 42 per cent of those living in urban areas.

Issue

Less than half of respondents – 46 per cent – have fibre or high-speed broadband.

Sir Alan Haselhurst, the MP for Saffron Walden, said the lack of internet was a rising issue for his constituents.

"It's one of the rising features of my mailbox and there has been more and more indignation as each day passes," he said.

"I am one of the people who is complaining."

"I live in my constituency in quite a rural area and it's terrible in terms of getting broadband."

He added: "On the one hand the council is rolling out its Super Fast Essex broadband, but I can see that it's the more populous areas which benefit first."

He said his own internet speed was often between 2mb and 2.4mb per second – around half the frequency needed to stream Netflix reliably in high definition.

Essex County Council is hoping to connect 5,500 households to super-fast broadband in the next few years – but Sir Alan said he had concerns.

Robert Halfon, the MP for Harlow, said many of his constituents had complained to him about slow internet speeds.

Problems

He added: "I am very happy for any other residents to get in contact with me about this as it helps for me to know what problems they are dealing with and I can do my best to help and contact their providers for them."

"In this day and age, everyone should be entitled to good, fast, working internet."

David Williams, Hertfordshire County Council's enterprise

chief, said the authority's £18.54 million Connected Counties programme had bought super-fast broadband to 20,000 homes and businesses since 2014.

Councillor Kevin Bentley, Mr Williams' counterpart in Essex, said: "Superfast connectivity is a key priority for Essex County Council. We can only intervene in those areas where there are no commercial plans but we are committed to extending superfast broadband as much as we can in those areas we are legally able to invest in."

Even if residents have access to superfast broadband it does not guarantee they have it. Contact your internet service provider for more information.

CONCERN: Robert Halfon, MP for Harlow, is worried his constituents might be impacted HERTFORDSHIRE and Essex have well and truly moved into the 21st century, with the vast majority of respondents to our survey saying they had more than five smart devices.

Seventy per cent said they had a large number of devices, which includes laptops, mobile phones and smart TVs.

Eighteen per cent said they had four or five devices in their household, while 11 per cent said they had two or three. Only one per cent of respondents had one device in their home.

The majority surveyed use the internet to surf the web and use email and social media, with 80 per cent also saying they streamed TV or music. Other responses included working from home and online gaming.

Big names booked for Playhouse 2017 line-up

POPULAR: Pop singer Leo Sayer will perform at Harlow Playhouse on May 9 after a sell-out success last year

EXCITING new bands, big name comedians and arthouse dramas are all part of a diverse spring 2017 line-up at Harlow Playhouse.

The theatre, in Playhouse Square, Harlow, is about to be taken over by Beauty and the Beast throughout pantomime season.

But bookings are already being taken for shows starting in February and Playhouse chiefs have drawn up a full ram-packed schedule up to June.

Every month BBC Music Introducing Essex will takeover the stage to present some of the best up and coming bands produced in the county.

Line-ups are typically announced three weeks prior to each event. The dates confirmed are January 3, February 28, March 21, April 18, May 23 and June 27.

Scott Ramsay, director of Harlow Playhouse, said: "We are excited to be working with an organisation and platform that has uncovered some of the most prestige's acts that the UK has seen including Florence and The Machine and Two Door Cinema Club."

All Introducing performances will be held as part of Harlow Playhouse initiative Pay What You Can which encourages audiences to attend a show for free and leave a donation afterwards.

In 2017 the scheme extends to quirky dramas Bottleneck and Spine (February 21 to 23) Thrive (March 7), In Tents And Purposes and Jonny And The Baptists (March 24), Blackout (April 26) and Letters To

BOOK NOW: Harlow Playhouse

Windsor House (June 22).

Scott added: "Pay What You Can has revolutionised how audiences interact with us, we are able to open the doors to as many people as possible by eliminating up front costs.

"People are taking more risks on what they see and they are coming back more often which is so lovely to see."

Television star Stephen K Amos (February 10) tops a strong comedy line-up which also contains German star Henning When (March 9), Lee Hurst (April 22), The Chris And Pui Show (April 29) and Rory Bremner (June 22).

Pop singer Leo Sayer will perform on May 9 after a sell-out success last year.

Barbara Dickson (February 9), Judie Tzuke (March 9) and Beverley Craven (April 23) are also on the line-up while a stellar bill of tribute acts will allow audiences evenings of nostalgia.

Look out too for illusionist Jamie Raven (February 25), shocking thrills with Circus Of Horrors (March 1) and Easter pantomime The Little Mermaid (April 1 to 6).

For the full line-up and bookings call 01279 431945 or visit: www.harlowplayhouse.co.uk

COMEDY STAR: Stephen K Amos is due to appear at Harlow Playhouse on February 10

Colourful butterflies and flower paintings

WATERCOLOUR artist Richard Brown is exhibiting works in the windows of the Civic Centre in The Water Gardens, Harlow.

Until November 30 his works, mostly of colourful flowers and butterflies, will be free for the public to peruse in the centre which is home to the Gibberd Gallery.

Mr Brown, of Maddox Road, Harlow, who has a painting displayed in the Westminster office of town MP Robert Halfon, said he is happy to showcase his paintings.

He said: "I have been painting since I was a boy. A painting typically takes me two days and all the works in the exhibition were completed in the past nine weeks.

"I chose these designs as I thought they would suit water colour."

Last lunch recital of autumn coming up

DECORATED violin player Jeanne Mann will join piano man Chris Redman for the last Lunchtime Recital at St John's ARC in the autumn season.

The pair will play at the Arts and Recreation Centre, in St John's Walk, Old Harlow, on Friday, November 25.

From 12.45pm an optional lunch will be served before the music begins at 1.30pm which is free with a retiring collection at the end.

Tuba man Joe's new director of music

HARLOW Brass Band has appointed a new musical director in professional tuba player Joe Palmer.

Joe recently graduated from the Royal Academy of Music where he gained a master's degree with distinction.

He joins the band which rehearses on Thursday evenings at St Andrew's Methodist Church at The Stow, Harlow.

ARTS

Ibsen's classic

WEEKS before Christmas festivities begin Harlow Theatre Company served a winter chill in the form of Ghosts.

Henrik Ibsen's 1881 work was thrillingly re-enacted at The Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow giving audiences a taste of a real Nordic noir.

Brenda Jones directed the proceedings which saw Jane Miles, often a HTC director herself, nail the protagonist role of disturbed widow Helene Alving.

The plot picks up after the death of her wealthy but menacing husband Captain Alving and is set entirely in their home.

Only son Oswald Alving, the pious Pastor Manders, carpenter Jacob and maid Regina all enter with piles of emotional baggage to create a melting-pot of upper class hell.

The play's greatest achievement is creating a gripping spectacle using flawed, and often unlikeable, characters. The grim tone rarely lifts bar the odd moment of black comedy to build to a climax where Helene and Oswald, who is well played by Mitch Rous, must confront past and present horrors.

With content that challenges the church and discusses incest, Ghosts was widely controversial on release and not performed in

WINTER CHILL: Ghosts was performed at The Victoria Hall Theatre

Ibsen's native Norway until much later.

But one is grateful the play survived the criticism and is now widely heralded as a classic.

Perhaps HTC members felt a need to get some darkness out of their systems before pantomime season, but Ghosts was a well-performed, gripping and accomplished work.

BACK ON TRACK: De-Railed play at The Square

Home-grown talent perform for farm

A DIVERSE range of musicians will perform for Harlow project Herts and Essex Community Farm at The Square.

De-Railed, PEG, Dan Starr and Shambles are all on the bill for the fundraiser at the venue in Fourth Avenue, Harlow, on Friday, December 9.

Marrisa Holliland, a trustee of the farm, which is in Fold Croft, Harlow, said she and all organisers are looking forward to swapping gardening to watch local bands for the evening.

"I think it's going to be fun," said the 40-year-old, who lives in Great Parndon, Harlow.

"It is really important to support new music. Two of the bands (De-Railed and PEG) have been around for a while but our ethos is to encourage home-grown artists to come down and play, as well as the home-grown produce we have as a farm!"

Herts and Essex Community Farm is a non-profit project, which began in October 2013 to promote more growing spaces in the town. It creates an opportunity for more organic produce to be grown in the town and also for Harlow children to learn about the importance of gardening and conservation.

Marrisa continued: "This is a fundraising event. We need donations, it is what we rely on. Next year we want to get a compostable toilet installed so that people who do not have good mobility can come more easily. We also want to set up some better parking to bring in more people."

A shameful episode of bigotry during the post-war decline of the British Empire provides rich source material for Amma Asante's handsome and deeply moving love story.

Anchored by impassioned performances, A United Kingdom dramatises the true romance of a defiant African prince and a London salesman's daughter, which embroiled two continents in an ugly tug-of-war for supremacy.

The central couple are kept apart for many years, including the birth of their first child, and scriptwriter Guy Hibbert captures the terrible injustice and anguish of this period of exile with aplomb.

Hibbert also gifts leading man David Oyelowo several barn-storming speeches against apartheid and intolerance, including a pivotal meeting of tribal chiefs, where the prince tearfully tells the assembled throng, "I love my people, I love this land – but I love my wife."

His unwavering belief that love conquers all, at a time when the world still bears the scars of bitter conflict, galvanises every beautifully composed frame and plucks the (heart)strings of composer Patrick Doyle's lush orchestrations.

Cinematographer Sam McCurdy contrasts the industrial grey of London with the sun-baked golds, oranges and browns of southern Africa, a ravishing backdrop where poisonous emotions take root

A United Kingdom

DRAMA: (12A) 133 minutes
Director: Amma Asante
Starring: David Oyelowo, Rosamund Pike, Jack Davenport, Tom Felton, Vusi Kunene, Terry Pheto, Laura Carmichael, Nicholas Lyndhurst, Abena Ayivor

and produce bitter fruit.

Seretse Khama (Oyelowo), heir apparent to the nation of Bechuanaland (now Botswana), is studying law in 1947 London before returning home to lead his people. He has been prepared for this role by his proud uncle Tshekedi (Vusi Kunene) and a council which kowtows to the British.

At a dance organised by the London Missionary Society, Seretse falls in love with typist Ruth Williams (Rosamund Pike), whose bigoted father George (Nicholas Lyndhurst) would never condone the flourishing romance.

"Father will hate [Seretse] on sight," observes Ruth's sister Muriel (Laura Carmichael). "He's cleverer than him... and he's black."

Paternal rage pales next to the indignation of Alistair Canning (Jack Davenport), the British government's representative in southern Africa.

"If you choose to marry the leader of an African nation, you will be responsible for the downfall of the British empire," he coldly informs Ruth.

Love across the divides

MOVING LOVE STORY: Rosamund Pike as Ruth Williams and David Oyelowo as Seretse Khama in United Kingdom

Unperturbed, the couple marries and Ruth accompanies Seretse to Bechuanaland, where she faces hostility from uncle Tshekedi, aunt Ella (Abena Ayivor) and Seretse's sister Naledi (Terry Pheto).

Meanwhile, the British – represented by snivelling district commissioner Rufus Lancaster (Tom Felton) – and the South African government use underhand tactics to separate the lovebirds.

A United Kingdom is a stirring ode to love, distinguished by molten on-screen chemistry between Oyelowo and Pike.

Asante elegantly navigates the political quagmire, eschewing heavy-handed sermonising about the controversial inter-racial romance, including powerful scenes of Ruth attempting to win over the sharp-tongued women of Bechuanaland.

Archive photographs over the end credits hammer home the couple's remarkable sacrifices and their enduring legacy in Botswana, and far beyond.

FIRST DRIVE Skoda Kodiak SUV

Skoda Kodiak SUV set to be a winner

By Stewart Smith

A few months ago I was allowed a preview of Skoda's first seven-seater SUV at the company's Czech Republic headquarters and was impressed with what I saw.

Now, after driving it, I'm even more impressed, and believe that the Kodiak could be the outstanding motor in the expanding medium-size SUV sector.

Not only does it look impressive, but its on-road ability, generous equipment level and build quality is certain to appeal to those looking for a big family motor at a reasonable price.

The Kodiak is ready to order and comes in four trim levels, five engine options, two and four-wheel-drive and a choice of manual or DSG auto gearboxes, so there's plenty of choice.

The entry level S trim Kodiak comes with five seats, the SE offering has an option for seven seats at a cost of just £1,000 and the SE L trim and top range Edition model have seven seats as standard.

Space is one of the Kodiak's biggest attractions and the seating arrangements can be changed to suit everyone's individual needs. The middle three seats can be slid forward to allow extra room for the two rear ones which I think are just suitable for children or a very short trip for adults.

Load space is cavernous if you fold all rear seats down giving 2,065 litres making it the largest boot in its class and if the optional folding front passenger seat is chosen, the SUV can transport items up to 2.80 metres long.

It also comes with an electrically operated tailgate as an option which can also be opened and closed using foot gesture command or a button in the interior. Kodiak also offers an option where front seats can be heated, ventilated and adjusted electronically and with a memory function.

Skoda's "Simply Clever" features include door-edge protection which deploys automatically when opening the car door and prevents the metal edge of the door from coming into contact with a garage wall or an adjacent car. It also comes with an umbrella which fits into the driver's door and an ice scraper in the fuel filler flap.

Another innovation is a "sleep package" that includes two sleeping headrests and packaged blankets. The sleeping headrests can be folded out at the sides in order to prevent your head from leaning to one side. For the backrests of the front seats there are foldable tray tables.

Up front I found the driving position good with an excellent rear view and all the controls were easily reached plus comfortable and supportive seats.

As you'd expect the new Kodiak comes with a host of high tech infotainment kit through Skoda Connect, which can be operated from a large screen controlling sat-nav, radio, telephone, breakdown assistance, parking information and much more.

Kodiak launches in the UK with a choice of five engines – three petrol and two diesel. Power units range from 125bhp to 190bhp and you can choose between two or four-wheel-drive and manual or DSG transmissions. All engines feature stop-start system and brake energy recovery.

The petrol line-up consists of two 1.4 TSI engines, one with an output of 125bhp and another with 150bhp and fitted with active cylinder technology which shuts down two cylinders when cruising which reduces fuel consumption. The 150bhp Kodiak can be bought with a manual 4x4 transmission, two-wheel drive DSG and 4x4 DSG.

The diesel offerings feature a pair of 2.0 TDI engines with outputs of 150bhp and 190bhp and the 150bhp comes as manual 4x4, two-wheel drive DSG and 4x4 DSG while the 190bhp unit is fitted with a seven-speed DSG 4x4 only.

Best economy comes from the 2.0-litre 150ps two-wheel drive diesel which is rated at 56.5mpg with emissions of 131g/km and on the petrol front the most economical is the 1.4-litre TSI which manages an official fuel return of 47.1mpg with a CO2 figure of 140g/km.

Although not an off-roader as such, the new Kodiak can be useful in adverse weather conditions and on rough tracks. If fitted, the system can be switched on at the touch of a button and the engine management and brakes adjust, and on steep slopes the hill descent assist cuts in.

I enjoyed the experience behind the wheel on a long test route which took in motorways, city driving and some pretty demanding hilly roads with dozens of hairpin bends, which despite the Kodiak's fair size, it coped well.

On the road it is quiet with very little road, wind or engine noise and it would be an ideal motor for long distance travel.

Deliveries will start in the UK in April and prices start at £21,495 for the S 1.4 TSI manual and on up to £34,895 for the 2.0 TDI Edition.

HONDA
The Power of Dreams

The Jazz. Surprising in every way.

Take the inside, you might expect it to be small. But it isn't. You can easily fit anything from the weekly shop to something as big as a Honda ATV inside it*. And there's plenty of head, shoulder, and legroom for passengers too.

See it for yourself at Glyn Hopkin Limited.

MERCURY OBSERVER

A Clinical Resourcing Organisation to the Pharmaceutical Industry.

PHARMACY/MANUFACTURING SCIENTIST/TECHNICIAN

We are seeking a Pharmacy/ Manufacturing Scientist/Technician, ideally with experience in the preparation and dispensing of small scale clinical trial drugs, to join our dedicated team at a hospital based Clinical Research Unit in Cambridge. Training and supervision will be provided for the successful candidate during the orientation period.

Preferred requirements of this developing role:

- Assist with the preparation of a range of compounds for administration in early phase clinical trials.
- On completion of role specific training, work strictly within the industry's regulatory framework whilst adhering to clinical trial protocols.
- Good attention to detail and excellent written documentation skills.
- Ability to work flexibly on a session by session basis initially, with a view to possibly undertaking regular hours of work.
- Work within a multidisciplinary team that offers skilled and knowledgeable advice on the preparation of pharmaceutical compounds.
- Interact with other clinical/scientific teams to ensure all relevant information is in place and timelines are met.
- Previous experience in dispensing clinical trial medicines or in a pharmaceutical manufacturing environment.
- Work during early mornings to assist in preparing clinical trial compounds for dosing at or before 9am.
- Demonstrate basic computer/keyboard skills to enable accurate documentation production.

We offer the opportunity to broaden experience in the operational and regulatory aspects of clinical trials and to possibly develop the role further according to changing needs. Paid holiday and meal breaks, competitive rates of pay and ongoing training are offered to the successful candidate who would be a pivotal member of an existing small team within the Clinical Research Unit. We welcome applications from suitable personnel with experience and availability appropriate to our needs.

Applications by full CV including a complete career history and details of how often you would be available to work should be forwarded by email to: david@rdscientific.com

No agencies or marketing please.

Victory on emotional day for rugby players

Harlow win their fourth straight Essex derby

London Three North East

Harlow 22
Upminster 3

HARLOW won their fourth Essex derby in row when they beat Upminster 22-3 on an emotional day at Ram Gorse to stay top of the London Three North East table.

Ahead of kick-off Harlow held a minutes silence and applause for two members who died recently; Dean Read of Harlow Rams XV and former first XV captain Colin Jenkins.

Director of rugby, Lee Harron, was pleased to get the win: "We're delighted with the result. It's been an emotional couple of weeks and the club should be proud of how we've all come together."

Playing up the hill in the first half, Harlow had to weather a series of early attacks from the away team. Despite good territory and possession, Upminster's forwards were unable to break through the Harlow line before the ball was cleared up the field.

Halt

After ten minutes Harlow gained a foothold in the match. Going through the phases the men in red moved the ball wide and forced Upminster back.

However, the attack squealed to a halt when right wing, Scott Whitby, knocked on with the try-line beckoning.

The next ten minutes were nip and tuck with neither team able to gain the ascendancy. However, both converted easy penalty chances to leave the score 3-3 with 20 minutes gone.

It wasn't until the 35th minute that the deadlock was broken. Good line speed from the Harlow defence forced Upminster to kick from their own 22.

Rob Mackie took the high ball cleanly despite pressure from the three defenders.

The ball was recycled and moved to wide to Whitby who screeched round his opposite man, before drawing the last defender and putting Michael Weston away to score the first try

INSTRUMENTAL: Scott Whitby (left) played a part in all of Harlow's tries of the match. Danny Smith missed the conversion to leave the score 8-3 at half-time.

Harlow started the second half strongly, immediately taking advantage of the slope to put Upminster under pressure.

A good rolling Maul from the forwards drew in the Upminster defence before the ball was moved to the backs.

An excellent pass from Danny Smith allowed Whitby to scream through the defence before he passed to Andrew Tarsey to score and make it 15-3.

The rest of the half followed a similar pattern. The away team resorted to kicking for position, and then for goal to try to make inroads into the home team's lead, but good Harlow defence meant the visitors never looked like scoring.

Harlow scored their final try with another well-worked move and brought any chance of an Upminster fight back to a screeching halt.

Good work from the forwards set the platform before Whitby was put through a gap to score a well-deserved try to the right of the posts.

Smith converted to make the final score 22-3.

IN BRIEF

Super Sharon sets a record

RUNNING: Sharon Wright set a new club record as all four Harlow Running Club members at the Victoria Park Half Marathon achieved a personal best (PB) time for the distance.

Wright finished in 35th place out of 268 finishers in East London with an excellent 1hr 32min 44sec, a new club Female Vet 35 record. Brendon MacLean was fifth in 1.22:21, Alex Smith ninth in 1.24:51 and Adrian Fell 23rd in 1.28:31.

Meanwhile at the St Neots Half Marathon in Cambridgeshire, Graham Saville also achieved a PB. He finished 413th out of 1127 finishers in 1.45:10 (PB).

In Leicestershire, Debbie Smith finished in 227th place out of 289 finishers at the Beacon Trail Half Marathon in 2.23:20.

Young duo bag medals

ATHLETICS: Lewis Harknett and Lily Smith picked up medals for Harlow AC at the Essex League Cross Country at Horseheath.

Harknett produced a dominant display to win the U17 men's race, he finished the 6.5K course in 22min 25sec.

Smith picked up a superb bronze medal in the 1.8K U13 girls' race, with a time of 8:53.

In the U17 women's race over 5.5K, Lottie Rowedder was sixth in 20:59. She has also had her selection to represent Herts at the SEAA InterCounties XC in December confirmed.

Jake Lacey came fourth in the U11 boys' 1.8K race in 7:48. There were also seventh-placed finishes for Ellen Savidge in the U13 girls' and Savanna Sirkett in the U15 girls'.

Siblings are just golden

JUDO: Brothers Owen and Thomas Lambert picked up gold medals for Harlow Judo Club at the South Coast U16 open.

The event at Worthing Leisure Centre saw five players from the club compete in a very testing competition.

In the eight to 11-year-old category, Owen, 11, won the Gold medal in his weight group. Bronze medals went to Ralfy Webb, nine, and Charlie Armstrong, nine, in their respective weight groups.

In the 12 to 16-year-old category, Thomas (15) took the gold medal in his weight group.

Giacomo Misuraca (14) was fifth, but was up against more experienced players, including a brown belt, in his group.

Read it and weep for Regent

ALEX READ'S second-half brace ensured Harlow Town progressed to the FA Trophy third round qualifying with a 2-1 win at home to Brightlingsea Regent.

Danny Chapman said he wanted more from the striker last week, and he answered the challenge to set up a tie with Ryman Premier table-toppers Havant & Waterlooville.

Harry McDonald netted a goal in injury-time to make it a nervy end for the Hawks, but they saw the game out and can now prepare for Saturday's trip to the south coast.

Aaron Condon had two early chances for the visitors on Tuesday night, testing David Hughes with a low shot before smashing an effort over the bar.

Jared Small and Mario Noto went closest for the Hawks in the opening 45 minutes. Small couldn't direct his header on target and Noto saw his cross hit the near post.

Harlow moved through the gears in the second half and showed their quality against their lower league opponents.

Read saw a shot cleared off the line, but opened the scoring just after the hour mark. He finished calmly past Dan Beeson after a clearance had hit Noto and bounced into his path.

George Doyle was denied by Hughes in the Harlow goal, and the hosts doubled their lead with 15 minutes remaining. Read nodded home from close range after Fabion Simms had flicked on a long throw. Simms missed a good chance to make it three, and McDonald's volley in the five minutes of added-on time made it a nervy end.

The Hawks returned to league action on Saturday with a 1-1 draw at Billericay Town.

Khale Da Costa gave them the lead in the tenth minute, his fourth goal in six games since arriving at the club.

Billericay equalised before the break, Ricky Stapleton bending a free-kick into the corner leaving Hughes with no chance.

Both sides had chances to win the game after half-time, but Hughes and opposite number Jack Giddens produced good saves to keep the scores level.

The Hawks sit 14th in the Ryman Premier table, just five points off the play-offs.

Dynamic duo catch the manager's eye

Eadie and Benjamin impress Hawks boss Chapman

AS HARLOW Town extended their unbeaten run to seven games in all competitions with a 2-1 win over Brightlingsea Regent, boss Danny Chapman was especially pleased with the form of Layne Eadie and return to the side of Joe Benjamin.

Full-back Eadie has been at the Hawks for more than three years, but suffered, what his manager described as, an "indifferent" patch of form.

In recent weeks he has been back to his best, bombing up and down the left flank and causing problems for opposition defenders, as well as stopping their forwards.

But Chapman does not think Eadie is your typical modern day full-back.

"Sometimes when you label someone a modern day full-back it means they aren't as strong defensively, which isn't fair with Layne because he can absolutely defend," he explained.

Struggle

"He gets up and down that flank all game. There are cases where defensively full-backs struggle, but that's not the case with Layne.

"He is in a really good patch of form at the minute, which is nice to see. He had a little indifferent patch at the start of the season but he's come through it now and he looks like Layne, like the player we've known over the last couple of years.

"He is a really good player, so we knew that would happen. Every player has those patches and he's come out the right side."

Like Eadie, Joe Benjamin struggled for form after returning to the club from Bishop's Stort-ford in August.

He was on the substitutes' bench for nine games in a row, before coming back into the side in the 1-1 draw against Billericay Town on Saturday and starting again against Brightlingsea.

Chapman lauded the winger's reaction.

He said: "The reaction is important because it shows you a couple of things. What the player's attitude is and whether or not they want to be at the football club. Joe's reaction shows me that his head is in a better place now."

Benjamin was substituted late on, on Tuesday night and left the pitch gingerly, but his boss revealed that was just due to a lack of minutes recently.

"Joe's fine. He's just another one who has been left out lots recently and hasn't played much football, so he was a bit stiff.

"He came back in against Billericay on Saturday, did really well and, again, I was pleased with him on Tuesday. He just needs to get his fitness levels back."

Ambassador Harten given Games role

JO HARTEN has been named as netball's Team England ambassador for the 2018 Commonwealth Games in Australia.

The 27-year-old recently signed for New South Wales-based netball franchise the Giants after picking up the Most Valuable Player award at the Fast Net international series in Australia and will spend time promoting the sport over the next 18 months.

Harten grew up in Harlow and attended, what is now, St Alban's Catholic Academy and St Mark's West Essex Catholic School as a youngster whilst playing for Tegate Netball Club.

After being announced as the ambassador, she said: "For netball, we view the Commonwealth Games as one of our biggest competitions and is our chance to shine on the global stage.

"To have been named a Team England Athlete Ambassador is a huge honour and I look forward to working with Commonwealth Games England (CGE) ahead of the 2018 Games."

Proud

Her mother, Claire, could not hide her pride at her daughter being chosen for the role.

"Her father, Barry, and I are very proud of all her achievements," she said.

"She will be based in Sydney in 2017 playing for The Giants, a new Australian franchise in the Australian netball league.

"She is very honoured to be representing netball with Team England."

Harten has represented her country more than 50 times, winning a bronze medal at the 2010 Commonwealth Games and is one of 30 ambassadors across the different sports.

Denise Lewis, who won two Commonwealth gold medals in the heptathlon, is the president of CGE, and she was delighted to welcome her on board.

"Jo is a fantastic athlete. Her experience will also be vital in helping Team England prepare for the Gold Coast Games in just over 500 days' time," she explained.

"We are delighted to have a great selection of some of England's greatest, and most promising, athletes involved in the Team England Athlete Ambassador programme."
